2. Applicant is given one month, or thirty (30) days, whichever is longer, from the mail date of this notice to supply the correction, if the non-compliant amendment is one of the following: a preliminary amendment, a non-final amendment (including a submission for a request for continued examination (RCE) under 37 CFR 1.114), a supplemental amendment filed within a suspension period under 37 CFR 1.103(a) or (c), and an amendment filed in response to a Quayle action. Continuation of 5 Other: On 20 March 2008 a restriction was placed against claims 1-20, 28-32, 112-116, and 128-131. The claims were divided into eight different groups. On 18 July 2008 applicant filed a response whereby all pending claims were canceled and new claims 132-146 were added. It is noted that none of the currently-pending claims are drawn to any of the originally-presented inventions. It is noted with particularity that applicant did not elect any of the inventions identified in Groups I through Group VIII and as such, the reply is deemed non-responsive.

If applicant desires to pursue an invention other than the eight originally presented in the instant application, such can be achieved through filing a divisional application. In the instant application, however, such an amendment needed to have been presented at any time during the roughly two years that transpired from the time of filing (06 April 2006) until the time of the restriction requirement (20 March 2008), including the time that applicant filed a preliminary amendment (22 September 2005). In the instant application, applicant had presented claims for examination and needs to elect one of the inventions identified AND amend the claims so that there is at least one claim drawn to the elected invention.
